Notables:

The series has been tight since the turn of the century, with Iona having won 29 of 56 games since 2000-01. After the Gaels swept the series in 2022-23, Siena returned the favor last season by taking both games - 77-56 at home on Jan. 20, 2024, and 74-57 on the road on Feb. 8, 2024. After falling at Iona earlier this month, Siena looks to force a series split for the first time in two seasons.

HEAD COACH TERRY PRIMM | 1ST SEASON

Palm Beach Atlantic '97

Fourth Season at Siena | First as Head Coach

Overall Record: 8-9 (1st season)

Division I Record: 8-9 (1st season)

Terry Primm was promoted to head coach of Siena Women's Basketball in April 2024 after serving as the top assistant on Jim Jabir's staff from 2021-24. Primm followed Jabir to Siena from Florida Atlantic, where he served as Jabir's Associate Head Coach for four years.

The 49-year-old Primm has played an integral role in the improvement of the Siena Women's Basketball program, highlighted by consecutive MAAC Semifinals appearances the past two seasons for the first time in 11 years. Working in lock-step with Jabir, the Detroit native helped Siena achieve an 18-12 overall record including a 14-6 ledger in Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference action during the 2023-24 season, marking the program's most league victories in more than two decades dating back to the 2002-03 season. Primm previously led the Saints for seven games as acting head coach during the 2022-23 season, guiding the team to a 6-1 record.

"We are very excited that Terry Primm will take over our women's basketball program," Siena Vice President / Director of Athletics John D'Argenio said upon Primm's promotion. "Coach Primm has been a key part of Coach Jabir's coaching staff over the last three seasons, which has led to the recruitment of outstanding student athletes and success on the court. He is the right choice to lead our student athletes and to continue to move this program toward a MAAC Championship. Join me in congratulating Coach Primm and his family on being part of a new chapter in Siena Women's Basketball."

After aiding the Saints to their first MAAC Opening Round bye in five seasons during his first campaign back with the team in 2021-22, Primm helped guide one of the youngest teams in the nation in 2022-23 to a fourth place regular season finish and both the program's first winning record and MAAC Semifinal appearance since 2018.

Siena boasted an 11-5 home record and a nine-win improvement while garnering five MAAC postseason honors - including Elisa Mevius winning MAAC Rookie of the Year honors. The team led the league in scoring offense and saw Mevius and classmate Teresa Seppala claim a combined 12 MAAC weekly honors - including Mevius becoming the first player in conference history to take home Player and Rookie of the Week honors on the same day. Siena ended the year with three players in double-figure scoring, six averaging seven points per-game or greater, and eight averaging more than 20 minutes per-game.

Primm was instrumental in helping the Owls achieve several milestones over his four years. In 2020-21, Primm helped FAU to eight Conference USA wins, the most in program history. The Owls also earned their first conference tournament win in program history with a victory over No. 6 UAB. Primm was the lead on bringing in Iggy Allen, who won C-USA Newcomer of the Year along with First Team All-Conference and All-Defensive Team honors. Allen ranked 14th in the NCAA in scoring (22.0 ppg) and 23rd in rebounding (10.0 rpg), while leading the Owls to 21st in the nation in rebounding (42.0 rpg).

Primm also had the opportunity to coach his daughter, Crystal Primm, in her final collegiate basketball season in 2019-20. The graduate transfer had a stellar campaign, finishing in the top-10 in points (15.4 PPG) and rebounds (8.0 RPG) in Conference USA, as well as sitting No. 7 in free throw attempts (214) and 29th in makes (137) in the NCAA. Crystal also was given a nod to the C-USA Second Team.

Also in 2019-20, the Owls put up the third most 3-pointers in a season (211), which was fourth in the conference, while tallying the fourth best free throw percentage in school history (71.7). FAU improved in a myriad of categories from the prior season, including in scoring offense, where the Owls averaged 66.3 PPG in comparison to the 2018-19 season's 57.0 PPG.

In his first season as an assistant coach at FAU, Primm helped lead the Owls to a seventh place finish in C-USA, the program's highest finish mark joining the league in 2013. Working primarily with the forwards, Primm helped build one of the nation's best rebounding teams. The Owls averaged 42.3 rebounds per game, leading the conference and ranking 18th in the country.

Prior to joining the Owls, Primm spent two seasons as an assistant coach with Coastal Carolina. He helped usher the Chanticleers into the Sun Belt Conference for the 2016-17 season. The team finished with a 13-16 overall record and went 8-10 in league play. In his first season with the Chants in 2015-16, Coastal had several notable wins throughout the season, including its first-ever victory against Clemson on Nov. 15 and its first win against Liberty in 20 years to snap a 45-game losing streak against the program.

Before heading to Coastal, Primm was at Oxbridge Academy of the Palm Beaches where he served as the head girls' basketball coach and director of basketball operations since 2013. During that time, Primm led the girls' program to a 39-11 (.780) overall record over the course of two seasons, and Oxbridge Academy reached the Florida High School Athletic Association Regional Final for the first time in the school's history in the 2014-15 season. His program also enjoyed success in the classroom as the girls' basketball team boasted a 3.50 combined team GPA.

In addition to his coaching responsibilities at Oxbridge, Primm also worked for the Miami Suns Youth Organization where he served as a coach, trainer and consultant.

Prior to Oxbridge, Primm served as the head men's basketball coach at Palm Beach Atlantic University from 2007-13. Primm's teams consistently faced the top competition in the NCAA Division II South Region and were able to knock off three top-25 nationally ranked teams as well as numerous regionally ranked squads. Included in PBA's notable wins during Primm's tenure was an overtime victory over North Greenville University in the 2009-10 NCAA South Region championship game.

Before taking the head coaching job at PBA, Primm spent several seasons as the assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for the Sailfish. PBA won two NCAA regional championships and posted back-to-back 20-win seasons in Primm's two year as an assistant coach from 2003-05.

Primm is the founder of the Top Performance Basketball Academy, and has additional coaching experience as an assistant at The Benjamin School (Palm Beach Gardens) and various camps. The Benjamin School won the 2001 FHSAA Class 2A State Championship with Primm as an assistant on the coaching staff.

A two-year starter for Palm Beach Atlantic from 1995-97, Primm averaged 18.7 points per game for the Sailfish to sit fourth all-time in the men's record book. He shot 57.4 percent from the floor while making over 37 percent of his 3-point attempts to rank in the top five in each category. He also ranks in the program's top five in steals per game.

Primm is a two-time graduate of PBA, earning his bachelor's degree in business administration before completing his master's degree in organizational leadership. His daughter, Crystal Primm, played at Duke and Auburn before spending her final year of eligibility at FAU. He is the father of Crystal and Journee Primm.

SIENA SAINTS*QUICK HITS

- The Saints are coming off a game in which they kept turnovers to a minimum with the team's 13 being tied for the second-fewest in a game this season. With that, it marked the sixth time in the last seven games that the Saints had 16 or more assists in a game.
- With another 18 point outing Thursday, Teresa Seppala inched closer to joining teammate Ahniysha Jackson in the 1,000-point club - needing just 26 more. The junior has reached that mark at least twice in her career - once last season, and the other this season on Dec. 30, 2024 when she drained a career-high 31 against Cornell. The duo look to become the first teammates to reach the program's 1,000-point club in the same season since Siena Hall of Famer Kollyns Scarbrough and Megan Donohue did so in 2016-17.
- Anajah Brown joined Seppala with double-digit scoring Thursday, doing so for the sixth time in her last seven games. Over that stretch, the senior is shooting 37-65 (57%) from the field, increasing her season field goal percentage to 50.9 - the fourth-ranked clip in the conference. Aside from her efficient shooting, Brown is one block away from becoming just the eighth player in program history to reach 100 for their career.
- Terry Primm has played an integral role in the improvement of the Siena Women's Basketball program since his arrival four seasons ago, highlighted by consecutive MAAC Semifinals appearances the past two seasons for the first time in 11 years. The Detroit native helped Siena achieve an 18-12 overall record including a 14-6 ledger in Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference action during the 2023-24 season, marking the program's most league victories in more than two decades dating back to the 2002-03 season.
- Primm previously led the Saints for seven games as acting head coach during the 2022-23 season, guiding the team to a 6-1 record.
- Siena was selected to finish second in the 2024 MAAC Preseason Coaches' Poll for the second consecutive season.
- The Saints also saw three players take home Preseason All-MAAC honors, with junior Teresa Seppala being named Preseason First Team All-MAAC, and Anajah Brown and Ahniysha Jackson being named to the Preseason All-MAAC Second Team.
- Over half (8/14) players on the roster are new to the team, including seven true freshmen
- The Saints are off of back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since the 2002-03 and 2003-04 campaigns, and will look for a third straight for the first time since 2001-04.
- The team boasts six international players and players from six different countries, including the United States, Finland, Spain, Hungary, and New Zealand.
